David Berlow undertook the revival of Goudy's Village family in the early nineties as the first real step in the successful redesign of Esquire. Frederic W. Goudy originally cut Village No. 2 in 1932 to bring early ideas up to date, adding the italic a year or two later for his own satisfaction. Font Bureau expanded Village, the model for Goudy's mature style, into a ten-part series designed for Esquire's use in text and display; FB 1994

GRUMPY WIZARDS MAKE A TOXIC BREW FOR THE EVIL QUEENS & JACKS. LAZY MOVER quit hard packing of the papier-mâché jewelry boxes. Back at my quaint garden: jaunty zinnias vie with flaunting phlox. Hark! 4,872 toxic jungle water vipers quietly drop on zebras for meals! New farm hand (picking just six quinces) proves strong but lazy. For only about $65, jolly housewives made 'inexpensive' meals using quick-frozen vegetables. Jaded zombies acted quaintly but kept driving their 31 oxen forward. At my grand prix, J. Blatz was equally vilified for his funky ways. My old grandfather spent his day quickly carving ninety wax buzzards, mostly from junk. When you and I go back to Juarez, Mexico, do we fly over picturesque Arizona? Murky haze enveloped a city as jarring quakes broke forty-six windows. Pack my box with five dozen liquor jugs. Will Major Douglas be expected to take this true/false quiz very soon? A mad boxer shot another quick, gloved jab to the jaw of his dizzy opponent. Just work for improved basic
